

FEED RATION FOR FINISHING SWINE

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention is a feed ration and a method of improving quality of a pork belly by including hydrogenated poultry fat as part of an animal's diet. The hydrogenated poultry fat may have an iodine value of between about 30 and about 60, and may be included in the feed ration on a daily basis during the final phases of the finishing diet.